Defiant: Jane Fletcher in front of the vandalised mural with Michael White, Lena Cullen and Tom Walter ANNE-MARIE SANDERSON

Artist vows to fight back after graffiti vandals wreck mural

By Ruth McKee

ruth.mckee@nlhnews.co.uk

AN artist who has galvanised community spirit in Haringey is determined not to let the vandals who have destroyed a mural "win".

Jane Fletcher, from Seven Sisters, has been working with the community around the Lordship Lane recreation ground in Bruce Grove, since last October to create a mural in the park representing the regeneration which has taken place in the area since the riots in 2011.

Months of hard work on the mural on the inside wall of the Shell Theatre paid off when Jane and the youngsters who had worked with her laid down their brushes on the finished product on July 23 – but that evening, as the anti-graffiti paint was drying, thugs scrawled Polish writing across the artwork.

"The next morning we saw it, the graffiti was all over the children's drawing and all over the wall from top to bottom," said Jane.

"All the neighbourhood kids were really protective of it, everyone in the community felt a kind of ownership of it – so to have this happen when the community were so behind the project is just devastating."

But Jane is determined that the Lordship Lane community spirit will triumph over the thugs – and rather than admitting defeat and hanging up her overalls she is calling on the community to rally round.

"We don't want the vandals to win, but at the moment we don't have enough money in our funds to buy more anti-graffiti paint."

In a show of defiance, Jane is looking to raise money through a justgiving page so that she will be able to buy more paint.

"I also want to get the community together so that once we repaint it we have a vigil as the paint dries to keep the vandals away so that they can't ruin our mural ever again," she added.

Air raid shelter found beneath road

A WORLD War II air raid shelter has been unearthed in Tottenham.

It was discovered in Tariff Road by engineers working on upgrading sewers, buried less than a metre below the surface on a driveway for an industrial area.

It is believed to have been built about 1940 and is 10 metres long, 2.5 metres wide and two metres high.

The only access is via manholes. The shelter does not show up on any maps and the new sewer pipes were due to pass directly through it.

The plans have now been changed. Mike Hall, archaeological adviser to Thames Water contractors Optimise, said: "It wouldn't have been right to demolish the shelter as it could have saved many lives during the war.

"There's no record of ownership, but we suspect it was built to serve the community and possibly workers at the nearby Triumph factory. "It would be great to find out if there's anyone around who has any memories of it."

Anyone with information can email mike.hall@optimise.co.uk or call 020 577 7700.

Council meeting in Pat Egan's memory

FAMILY, friends and colleagues will pay their respects to the late councillor Pat Egan at a meeting in his honour.

Mr Egan, 66, died in July. He had been a Woodside ward councillor for eight years after being elected in 2006 and was chief whip of the Labour group on the council.

Before becoming a councillor, he worked as a teacher, deputy headteacher, acting headteacher and university lecturer – and his commitment to education continued until his death through his role as chairman of governors at St Thomas More School, in Glendale Avenue, Wood Green.

Claire Kober, the leader of Haringey Council, said: "Pat was well-liked and hugely respected on both sides of the council chamber for his straight-talking approach and his hard work on behalf of the people of Woodside and Haringey.

"Those who knew Pat best know that he didn't stand on ceremony, but it's right that as a council and a community we take the time out to pay tribute to Pat, share our memories of our comrade and offer our condolences to his family.

"I hope that anyone who knew him, whether through his role as a councillor, a party member or a school governor, will feel free to join us to honour the huge contribution he made to Haringey."

He will be remembered at a special full council meeting on Thursday, October 16, at Haringey Civic Centre, in High Road, Wood Green, from 7pm.

Record-equalling results

HARINGEY'S GCSE students equalled last year's record-breaking performance with 63.6 per cent gaining five A*-C grades including English and maths when the results were announced last Thursday.

Tory anger at plans to slash £72,000 from gritting costs

By Koos Couvée

koos.couvee@nlhnews.co.uk

COUNCIL plans to reduce the borough's gritting network by a third have been slammed by opposition councillors.

At a meeting of Enfield Council's overview and scrutiny committee on Tuesday last week, Labour councillors – who outnumber Conservative members four to two – voted in favour of reducing the network, which in 2013/14 was 276km in length, to 185km.

Last year the council's winter maintenance budget was £310,720 and as result of the change this would be reduced to £238,000 – a £72,000 saving.

The move has angered Tory councillors, who had called in the decision. They say it will make it difficult for parents to drop off their children to school during icy or snowy weather.

Schools which are no longer part of the gritting network include Bishop Stopford Secondary and Suffolks Primary, in Brick Lane, Enfield, and St Michael at Bowes Junior School, in Tottenham Road, Palmers Green.

Joanne Laban, Tory spokeswoman for environment, branded the decision "totally unacceptable".

"We've been told that savings will not affect front-line services, but this decision certainly does," she said.

"The aim of the network is to keep Enfield moving during difficult weather, but how can we do so if the council is making it difficult for parents to send their children to school, for teachers to get to the school to open up and for residents to access main routes to business areas?"

"This will certainly result in more schools being closed during icy or snowy conditions."

Chris Bond, cabinet member for environment and community safety, said the decision did not affect pavements as the gritting of walkways come from another budget.

He added: "This was not an easy decision to make, but we are under pressure to save money and we are cutting down to what we believe is a sustainable level.

"With regards to the schools, if you get heavy snowfall, they will often be closed anyway, for example, when the playground cannot be cleared.

"In any case we have money in reserve to expand our gritting efforts in case of extremely bad weather. We are prepared for that."

GCSE sisters shine after moving from South Africa

By Koos Couvée

koos.couvee@nlhnews.co.uk

THERE were cries of joy and tears of disappointment as teenagers interrupted their summer holidays to return to school today to get their GCSE results.

At the Great Cambridge Road campus of the borough's largest school, Edmonton County, dozens of pupils arrived well before the doors opened and stood anxiously waiting outside, with several reporting "butterflies" in the stomach.

At 10am many of the 268 Year 11 pupils flooded in to receive their grades, after which all would be interviewed for the school's sixth form, where the vast majority are expected to study for their A-levels.

Having secured six A's, three As and two Bs in subjects including chemistry, biology, English, geography, history, and Turkish, 16-year-old Akin Tasar was hoping to "sail through" his interview.

He said: "With the effort I have put in and the help from my teachers, I expected to do well. I was feeling anxious yesterday because I was imagining the worst case scenario with lower grades than expected. I did not want to let my teachers down, but I am very happy now."

Deborah Akintoye, 17, who secured an A*, two As, six Bs and a C and her 16-year-old sister Eritobi, who scored four As, four Bs and two Cs, were very pleased with their grades, having moved to the UK from South Africa only last year.

Eritobi said: "It was a big change for us at first because the way things are taught here is so different, for example geography was totally different, and I hadn't studied religion before."

Edmonton County headteacher Dr Susan Tranter added: "We are very proud of the fact that 25 per cent of students have scored at least three A's this year."

"This school has hard-working students, great support and excellent teachers, and many go on to study at Russell Group universities."

Meanwhile, at Nightingale Academy, in Nightingale Road, Edmonton, 151 pupils received their results. For 60 per cent of pupils at the school, English is a second language and executive principal Debby Lipkin said she was "incredibly pleased" that 67 per cent of students achieved A-Cs in English.

The school prides itself on its links with a range of employers, including Tottenham Hotspur Football Club, and many pupils go on to study vocational courses at nearby colleges.

Thivya Saravanabavan, 17, who secured five A's and three As in subjects including English, maths, statistics, religion and geography, told the Advertiser: "I am so happy because I made my parents proud. They have done so much for me and I could never pay them back but at least I have this to show to them."

Nearly two in three make the top grade

MORE than 60 per cent of pupils in the borough bagged top grades in their GCSEs last week.

As results day dawned across the country, the borough's education chiefs calculated that 64 per cent of Enfield pupils secured five or more A*-C grades.

And students can pat themselves on the back as their achievements put them ahead of the borough's average last year of 60 per cent.

The deputy leader of Enfield Council, Achilles Georgiou, praised the studious pupils. He said: "This is particularly pleasing given the 'volatility' of this year's results, as described by the Standards and Testing Agency, and a national decline in English results."

"All Enfield teachers and their students are to be congratulated for all their hard work and determination."

Council chiefs singled out a few schools as gaining particularly impressive results with Lea Valley High School, in Bullsmoor Lane, Enfield, boosting the numbers achieving the top grades by eight per cent.

They added that at Winchmore School, in Laburnum Grove, top results were up seven per cent from last year.

Edmonton County School, in Great Cambridge Road, boosted their A*-C grades by 11 per cent.

St Anne's High School, in Oakthorpe Road, Palmers Green, sustained steady improvement with 81 per cent of students achieving top grades.

And Bishop Stopford School, in Brick Lane, Enfield, was also praised for getting top grades from 71 per cent of pupils.

Vandalised trees may never return

By Hannah Ferry

newsdesk@nlhnews.co.uk

TREES which were chopped down by vandals in an overnight raid on a memorial garden will not be replaced as the council regards them "unofficial" horticulture.

The raiders chopped down 13 conifer trees that encircled a memorial bench in Enfield Town Park, leaving the felled branches in the park in an act of vandalism rather than theft.

Although council officers swooped on the scene to clear up the debris, police and council chiefs have revealed that the trees will not be replaced as they were planted "unofficially" by a "guerrilla" gardener, who did not have planning permission to plant the originals.

Cabinet member for the environment Chris Bond admitted that it was a "real shame" that the trees had been axed by vandals – but added: "If everyone went around planting trees, there would be mayhem."

However, Julie Bonner Derick, the manager of Enfield Town Park Café, says she knows the undercover gardener who planted the trees.

She told the Advertiser: "He

Act of vandalism: Trees were chopped down had been carefully nurturing them ever since he planted them. Now he can't even go down to the site any more as he is so upset about what has happened. I hope the police or the council can replace them. The trees were planted to make the memorial garden a more peaceful place to be."

However, an Enfield Council

spokeswoman could not guarantee the trees would be replaced and said: "Parks maintenance have tidied up the site and discussions are under way on the best way forward to restore this area for the benefit of all park users"

The trees had grown to 15ft in height. The vandals struck on the night of August 8.

Cat Hill squatters given eviction notice

Not the end: Kim Coleman

By Ruth McKee

ruth.mckee@nlhnews.co.uk

PROTESTERS occupying the site of a large-scale housing development have been ordered to vacate their adopted home.

Squatters moved on to the former Middlesex University campus in Cat Hill, in Cockfosters, in April.

They joined residents who had been protesting against the development of 231 homes on the site, since the scheme was granted planning permission by Enfield Council last year.

The eco-warriors object to the destruction of natural habitats for wildlife on the site.

Developer London and Quadrant originally tried to get them evicted in May – but the hearing at Barnet County Court was adjourned to August 6.

A hearing two weeks ago concluded with District Judge Stone telling squatters, residents and lawyers for the development company that he would need to deliberate on the decision before handing down a ruling.

However, the squatters hopes'

Protesters to keep fighting development

Ordered to leave: Squatters occupying the Cat Hill site were dashed on Wednesday last week when lawyers delivered a formal eviction notice issued by the judge. They were given seven days to leave the site – there had been no signs of movement by yesterday morning.

Resident Kim Coleman, a leading light in the campaign against the housing development, said she was determined that this would not spell the end of the protest.

She said: "We intend to appeal against the order. We will be lodging the appeal formally with the county court as soon as we can."

The developers, L&Q Housing, "welcomed" the decision and said that it was a "step forward" for the development.

A spokesman added: "This development will create much-needed homes for people on a range of incomes. These well-designed homes will match the character of the area."

Stressing that the eco-warriors should not have cause for concern over the developers' stewardship of the land, he said that the 25-year woodland management plan would "further improve the diversity and value of the woodland habitat".

Woman rescued from house fire in Edmonton

A WOMAN escaped from a house in Edmonton after a fire tore through the building.

The woman was taken to hospital by ambulance after she was rescued from the first floor as flames engulfed the house (pictured) in Sweet Briar Green.

Firefighters rescued the woman using a ladder.

Six fire engines arrived at the scene at 10am on Sunday and the firefighters had the blaze under control by 1.40pm.

The roof, most of the first floor and half of the second floor were destroyed by the blaze.

Three other people were able to escape from the building before the firefighters arrived on the scene.

Man jailed after road rage attack

A MAN who punched a driver to the ground in a road rage attack has been jailed for two years.

Joshua Roberts, 25, of Highbury, north London, pleaded guilty to one count of grievous bodily harm at Wood Green Crown Court on August 14.

The 24-year-old victim was driving along Station Road in New Southgate on May 13 on his way to the shops when he noticed a vehicle was following him too closely.

He gestured for the driver, Roberts, to back off. However, Roberts followed him into a car park and pulled in front of the victim's car – blocking him in.

Roberts then got out of his car and attacked the victim, punching him in the face.

The victim fell to the ground and Roberts got back into his car and drove off, leaving the victim lying on the ground.

He was rushed to North Middlesex Hospital, in Sterling Way, Edmonton, where he was treated for a fractured jaw.

Doctors were forced to insert metal plates into his jaw.

Detective Constable Daley Jones, of Enfield CID, said: "The sentence in this case reflects the severity of the injuries inflicted on the victim."

"As a result of asking someone not to tailgate, the victim has undergone surgery to his face."

"Roberts will have the opportunity to ponder his criminal and completely unacceptable behaviour throughout his incarceration."

Police make carnival arrests

SEVEN men were arrested in Edmonton on Monday by police working with officers who were on patrol at the Notting Hill Carnival.

One man was arrested for possession of an offensive weapon, three men were arrested on suspicion of possession of class B drugs, one man was arrested for failing to stop and two men were arrested on suspicion of possession with intent to supply class B drugs.

A section 60 order, which grants police power in a particular area to stop and search people in anticipation of violence, had been issued for the Edmonton Green area that day between 9.30am and noon.

Superintendent Robyn Williams, the Metropolitan Police spokesman for the Notting Hill Carnival, said: "These arrests demonstrate that on the last day of the carnival we were as determined as ever to ensure that individuals who might be seeking to cause trouble did not succeed."

The seven have been released on bail.

Doorman and actor dies after attack outside bar

By Ruth McKee

ruth.mckee@nlhnews.co.uk

A DOORMAN from Edmonton, described as a "gentle giant", has died after being assaulted in the early hours of Saturday morning.

Police believe James Darrah, known locally as Big Jim, hit his head when he fell to the ground after being punched in the face.

The attack happened just after midnight at the entrance to the Stone House Bar, in Hertford.

The 54-year-old was rushed to hospital – but died a short time later.

The doorman was also an actor and had featured in the London gangster film Lock, Stock and Two Smoking Barrels, alongside Vinnie Jones. He had also voiced characters on the 2002 computer game The Getaway.

Marc French, the owner of Ugly Models acting agency, had represented Mr Darrah for 20 years and told the Advertiser that all who worked with James were shocked at his death.

He said: "James was a real gentle giant. He was amazing, just incredible."

"What everyone who worked with him said was he wasn't at all like his image – he was an absolutely lovely man."

Police are appealing for information about the attack after they arrested a 26-year-old man, from Buntingford, Hertfordshire, in connection with the incident. He has since been released on bail.

Detective Chief Inspector Jerome Kent, from the Bedfordshire, Cambridgeshire and Hertfordshire major crime unit, who is leading the investigation, said: "We are investigating this attack thoroughly to establish exactly what happened and are treating his tragic death as suspicious."

He added that events at the bar would have been seen by a large number of people and anyone who was in the area at the time is urged to get in touch with the investigation.

Anyone with information can call police on 101, quoting crime reference Operation Premio, or contact Crimestoppers anonymously on 0800 555 111.

The Stone House Bar confirmed that Mr Darrah had been a member of staff and released a statement on Twitter saying: "With great sadness we confirm a member of the door team passed away after being knocked to the ground just before midnight last night."

Jo Collins

Chickenshed Theatre

AS we approach the start of our new autumn season, I am delighted to be working again with Chris Bond.

He was the original director of Blood Brothers and writer of the original play of Sweeney Todd.

Chris is coming back to direct our production of Alice On The Underground, which opens on Wednesday, October 8.

It was in 2001, when we were rehearsing another Chris Bond play (The Laughing Man), that he had the idea for Alice On The Underground.

He was sitting in the bar one lunchtime when he saw Emma Cambridge doing her homework.

He says: "A sip of orange juice, a nibble at her nails, a smile at me and then head down over her exercise book. I thought, who does she remind me of? Alice in Wonderland – Emma was sitting there in her own world."

This gave him the idea to write a modern take on the classic book. Alice lives in a high-rise block of flats on a housing estate with her very dysfunctional family. In desperation she leaves to search for love and discovers a new world of weird and wonderful characters on the London Underground.

I was keen to ask Chris to come back for Chickenshed's 40th anniversary – and what better show to revive but the one that gained us a five-star review in The Guardian with the quote: "This year's must-see musical has to be Alice on the Underground from Chickenshed – punchy music, dynamic language, humorous and touching. Don't delay booking your tickets and follow Alice's adventures as she travels on the Underground in search of love."

Mistakes made, but cycling is not the biggest threat

FROM the outburst of indignation about Cycle Enfield, which has appeared in the local press during the past few weeks, one would think that people were being threatened with the loss of their lives, not just control over their cars and where they park them.

Fear of business losses seems to be behind much of the outcry and, of course, it is unfortunate that some business people were not initially consulted when Enfield Council first put in their bid for the money.

On top of that, calling it a Mini-Holland scheme was a mistake in a country, which already feels itself in danger of being minimised should Scotland secede from the Union.

But it seems both of these mistakes have now been rectified, or will be when the main consultations take place in the autumn.

One factor I have not seen mentioned much is that the potential loss of parking space for cars is not the only or even the most important threat to local shopping.

Big supermarkets sited in soulless out-of-town areas and, most of all, the rise of internet shopping, are two crucial issues.

Maintaining or even increasing the number of small car parks should help.

The other solution is to improve amenities for all potential shoppers, car drivers, cyclists and pedestrians and catering to the needs of all ages.

This point was well made at the recent public meeting when the speaker forecast that town centres which, are not attractive will simply die.

Jean Robertson-Molloy
Arlow Road,
Winchmore Hill

IN response to "Giving parking spaces to cyclists does add up" (Advertiser, August 6) – now that we know via Linda Miller that the Melbourne research found that drivers spend more than cyclists, I find it surprising that Adrian Lauchlan persists in trying to convince us otherwise.

I am not convinced by the statistics in his exercise because we are not told where it was, how much each cyclist and driver spent and the type of goods bought. Does he really believe that cyclists spend more at supermarkets, retail parks and the shopping precinct in Enfield Town? If so, where are they?

I shop at Sainsbury's in Winchmore Hill and the car park is full of cars and few cycles. This is perpetuated across the borough.

He must know the reason for this is not the risk factor associated with cycling, but the popularity of the car, which has far more carrying capacity and is a safer and more comfortable method of travel in all weathers.

He says social norms have expanded to encompass cycling as a legitimate travel mode, but cycling is not new.

In the hardship years pre-war, cycling was a means of cheap travel. Its numbers dwindled as people became more prosperous and bought a car instead.

Providing a network of cycling infrastructure across the borough will persuade some "afraid" persons to take up cycling, but will not induce drivers to give up their cars or influence people against buying a car. Therefore, £30million of taxpayers' money is a lot to spend on "hope to change travel behaviour".

Profit before patients

A REPORT by Dexter Whitfield (director of a social justice watchdog) indicated among many findings a "staggering level of profits" pocketed by construction companies and banks including private takeover and profiteering during the recent Barnet project. He feared that profit before patients could be the outcome.

In May, the Enfield Advertiser reported David Cameron pledging investment in primary care to compensate for the loss of front-line hospital services, stating that the closure of Chase Farm's A&E and maternity units were a "clinician-led" decision, despite an electoral-led promise not to.

The PM also indicated that increasing GPs' hours across the country would help fill the void left by A&E departments.

These terms seem to denote that he understands he created a major problem through closures without adequate substitution. This must be financial and seems to point in the direction indicated by Mr Whitfield.

In the Advertiser on August 6, David Sloman, chief executive of the Royal Free, condemned Chase Farm's facilities as "not fit for purpose" with "many of them left to ruin", indicating a major rebuild would possibly be complete by 2018.

In a letter on August 13, he stated that "patients, residents, local politicians and other stakeholders" would get their say.

My money's on the stakeholders.

M Cox
Pentrich Avenue,

PRAISE for Canterbury ward and staff at Chase Farm Hospital was good to see (Advertiser, August 13). We have all been fighting to retain the excellent services for more than 10 years, with more than 76,000 people participating.

With consultation taking place now, details of an outline planning application not made public until November and a full business case not to be published until the summer of 2015, for the changes to Chase Farm and its estate land, this makes it vulnerable to reductions and alterations at the later date? There is good reason to be concerned.

The emphasis is on money, acquisition of NHS estate land and reduced hospital buildings, as opposed to the major A&E hospital needed for the 21st century with a growing population in Enfield and south Hertfordshire, if the two other hospitals are not to be swamped with patients needing immediate attention and more.

The £263million of transitional funding, supplied by the Department of Health, NHS England and seemingly GPs in the clinical commissioning groups, means that Barnet Hospital's historic debts will be cleared – but neglected Chase Farm will have a £120m development on a much smaller site with a far greater reduction in services.

We are told the money gained by sales will be used for the benefit of the patients at Chase Farm, but what does that mean? And with £263m funding available, why wasn't Chase Farm upgraded?

Ivy Beard

CAN someone please tell me why there are no proper managers now that the Royal Free has taken over Chase Farm.

The switchboard has no proper manager, bank staff are running the show.

I used to work there and noticed how the bank staff chose to do all the overtime and never shared it out. I found this disgusting.

How they are letting bank staff run the show? Come on, Royal Free, sort your staff out.

Now flytippers dump recycling

THE junction of Hertford Road and Carterhatch Road has become synonymous with flytipping.

Earlier this year more than 60 bags of rubbish were counted on one occasion.

Despite the efforts of Enfield Council, who installed cameras for 10 weeks, the situation has not improved, only that the flytipping is being collected on an almost daily basis.

Today (Sunday, August 10), I noted that the flytippers have taken it to a new level and left a recycling bin along with their rubbish.

No ticket to ride

THE ticket office at Hadley Wood station is supposed to be open between 6.30 and 10am, Monday to Friday.

In the absence of the official clerk, it remains shut. The ticket machine is very fiddly and this afternoon (August 18) it was out of order.

How are passengers meant to buy their tickets? Doesn't the train company care about its passengers?

Clinics could be just the job

By Hannah Ferry

newsdesk@nlhnews.co.uk

A BUSINESS group is providing free, weekly career clinics during September for unemployed people seeking help to find work.

Following the success of an event in July, during which managers from the Ponders End branch of Tesco spoke to job hunters about working for an international company, Enterprise Enfield, based in Hertford Road, Enfield Highway, will run weekly career clinics with advice from multi-national businesses.

The clinics are due to take place on the first three Fridays of September, with each comprising a morning and an afternoon session.

The morning sessions will be held from 10am to noon and will offer assistance with online job searches, improving CVs and completing application forms.

The afternoon sessions, from 1pm to 2pm, will be hosted by representatives from businesses including Ikea, Barclays and Wates who will talk about career paths and recruitment processes.

Enfield Business and Retailers' Association's town centre manager Mark Rudding told the Advertiser: "Anything we can do to encourage businesses to invest in Enfield and its people is fantastic. I am very supportive of this Enfield Enterprise scheme."

He insisted that the clinics could "only be a positive thing" and that it was a "great idea" to launch schemes which boost unemployed people's confidence and skills.

In addition to support, the clinics will offer expert advice to those thinking of becoming self-employed. This includes help to prepare a business plan, raise finance, manage accounts and marketing.

The career clinics form part of Enterprise Enfield's free employability support programmes, which are funded partly by the European Social Fund and Enfield Council and supported by London Councils.

Enterprise Enfield is a not-for-profit training organisation dedicated to helping people start out in business.

World hunger brought home to V Festival

AMONG the hoards of people armed with tents and Wellington boots who descended on this year's V Festival one young woman chose charity over rock 'n' roll excess.

Rhian Hanson, 23, of Greenway, Southgate, went to the festival, near Chelmsford in Essex, as a volunteer for the Catholic Agency For Overseas Development.

The team, which was made up of Rhian and seven other young volunteers, set out their stall in one of the fields near the music stages and chatted to festival-goers about the work CAFOD does fighting poverty and injustice overseas.

Although an alcohol-fuelled festival is not typically associated with acts of charity, Rhian said that the team wanted to target teenagers with their message – and a music festival was the best place to find them.

"We were hoping to engage particularly with 18 to 29-year-olds who are no longer informed about CAFOD at school," she told the Advertiser. "Most people were very co-operative and willing to listen to the important message we were spreading."

The volunteers also circulated the park promoting the charity's Hungry for Change campaign, which is aimed at redressing worldwide food shortages, with one in eight people going hungry each day.

The young people also invited music lovers to sign a petition to David Cameron informing the Prime Minister of the fact that the world produces enough food to feed everyone – yet 870 million people still go without vital nourishment each day.

Rhian added: "It was great helping CAFOD at the V Festival. Being able to raise awareness of an important agency while also having fun was really rewarding."

And it was not all work and no play for the volunteers, who were able to take a break to see the likes of Ed Sheeran and Justin Timberlake perform at the festival.

Community games returns

A FIVE-A-SIDE football club is set to stage their second annual community games following the success of last year's event.

The Ponders End Community Games will take place on Sunday, September 7, from noon to 5pm, in Ponders End recreation ground.

The sporting and creative activities on offer will be a chance for children and adults to get involved.

Secretary of Futsal Club Enfield Robert Brassett, said: "We're looking to get girls and boys from throughout the community to get involved with futsal."

"Sport England and the FA have said that five-a-side football is one of the fastest growing indoor sports in the country."

"Futsal Club Enfield is currently the only club of its kind in north London, so the games will be a real booster for the club."

The community games were originally created to give people the chance to celebrate the London 2012 Olympic and Paralympic Games.

Since January 2012, more than 2,500 people have taken part in events across the country.

The Ponders End Community Games promotes healthy living while also encouraging young people to represent their borough in a range of activities.

As well as futsal, participants will have the opportunity to have a go at basketball, football, athletics, arts-and-crafts, and even giant board games.

What a beauty: George Savva measures his marrow

Monster marrow joy

By Hannah Ferry
newsdesk@nlhnews.co.uk

A COUNCILLOR has stunned fellow green-fingered gardeners by growing a giant marrow in just 16 weeks.

George Savva, who represents Haselbury ward, has tended his plot on Barrowell Green allotments, off Crawford Gardens, Palmers Green, for more than 40 years.

But even after decades of experience he was shocked when one of the marrows on his patch grew to a whopping five feet and nine inches.

"I didn't think it would do well, as it is planted under the cherry tree," Mr Savva told the Advertiser. "Vegetables tend to do much better when they are placed in full sunlight, so we're all surprised that the marrow has been such a success."

The mighty marrow is still growing and at the last weigh-in Mr Savva saw it top the scales at more than eight kilos.

The green-fingered councillor planted his marrow in May and kept it under glass at first to make sure the crop survived the changing nature of a British spring.

The passionate gardener thinks everyone should pick up a trowel and get hoeing.

"The upkeep of our allotment is a challenging hobby and healthy exercise," he said.

"There's a great atmosphere at Barrowell Green and it is a place where we can come to relax and socialise."

Mr Savva supports organic gardening and recommends a recipe of equal parts of washing-up liquid, olive oil and water to keep slugs and other pests away, preferring to steer clear of pesticides.

Although he extols the many ways of cooking a marrow – stuffing, frying or boiling them – Mr Savva added that it was likely this particular whopper would be donated to friends, family or a food bank.

Thanks to the hot, dry weather during the summer, he also saw his tomato crop thrive for the first time in three years – but admits that for him this year, his mighty marrow is cream of the crop.

Stages set for festival down on the farm

By Ruth McKee

ruth.mckee@nlhnews.co.uk

THE borough's very own Glastonbury will be serenading the wildlife around Forty Hall Farm next weekend as more than 20 bands perform at an eco-themed fundraiser.

Livestock at Forty Hall on Saturday, August 30, will see the farm taken over by rhythm and blues bands, circus performers, arts and crafts stalls, dancing, theatre and food in a bid to raise money for BBC Children in Need.

Leading the line-up of bands performing in the lush grounds of the farm, situated just beside the house and grounds of Forty Hall, are Mused – a tribute act to rock band Muse.

In keeping with the home-grown ethos of the festival, Maria Evangelou, who will only have to travel from her Palmers Green home, will be belting out soul and jazz classics.

North London talent will also be represented by Tottenham-born street folk star Lester Clayton and his band.

Leon Wilkin, of Goat Lane, Enfield, is one of the brains behind the festival fundraiser and told the Advertiser that in keeping with the green ethos of the farm everything at the event will be recyclable, from plastic forks to food containers.

"Everything we're doing is in keeping with the green festival idea," he explained.

As in the early days of Glastonbury, two of the barns on the site in Forty Hill, Enfield, will be transformed into stages where some of the 23 bands will play.

But Leon, 69, says that no animals will be put out by the festivities as the barns are only used during lambing time.

"There are only a handful of animals on the farm at this time of year – and they will all be out in the penned area where children can pet them," he added.

Tickets for the event cost £10 for adults and £4 for under-16s. Entry is free for under-threes. They can be bought in from the Village Wholefoods Store, in Forty Hill, and are also available online from <http://www.fortyhallfarm.org.uk/>

Nestled within the picturesque Hertfordshire countryside, yet close to modern amenities and just half-an-hour from central London, this exquisite development offers families an unrivalled quality of life in one of Hertfordshire's best-located villages. Elegantly designed, Carrington Grange perfectly complements the beauty of its natural surroundings.

Welwyn North Railway station approximately 2.5 miles away from Carrington Grange offers services to Welwyn Garden City, Hertford, Cambridge and London Kings X (33 mins), all within 60 minutes.

For shopping and leisure, Welwyn Garden City approximately 3 miles from Tewin is an excellent place to eat, drink and shop. Whilst Hertford, approximately 4 miles distant, offers a more diverse market town shopping experience thanks to an abundance of independent retailers and is also renowned for a variety of bars, entertainment venues and restaurants.

The development of Carrington Grange combines traditional architecture, contemporary interiors and a luxurious specification to create desirable homes perfect for meeting the demands of modern living and which are constructed to the highest standards, including energy-efficient lighting, heating and insulation.

Gill Austin, Sales Manager at selling agents Lanes New Homes said "Each home at Carrington Grange has been thoughtfully designed to maximise space and light, with carefully positioned windows and double doors bringing the outside in. Complementing the elegant interiors are landscaped gardens which offer privacy, security and the space to relax. The development really does offer families an enviable quality of life and to be able to buy one of these houses on a part exchange basis is an opportunity not to be missed!"

There are currently only three plots available for sale at Carrington Grange. The Danesbury - a four bedroom detached house with separate dining room, which is available to buy at £795,000 and two plots of The Chandlers house type - a five bedroom house with open plan kitchen/family room and separate living room available to buy at £835,000. New i8 eats up the road

By Iain Dooley

CONSIDERING the quantum leap in design and approach to performance motoring, it would be easier to list what isn't new about BMW's i8.

The carbon composite structure has much in common with the firm's smaller i3, while the mix of petrol and electric power in the form of a plug-in hybrid should ensure maximum flexibility, regardless of driving conditions.

Furthermore, the i8's appearance is a world apart from BMW's familiar, more conservative family of conventional cars.

Despite the presence of child-size back seats, the i8 is realistically a two-seater – something the dramatic, sleek profile makes no apologies for.

Taking the definition of dramatic to new heights, the i8 isn't for shy and retiring types. Some sports cars downplay their potential, but that's not the case here.

Pick a light-coloured car and you can see the various styling details. It's clear that considerable effort has gone into the design with the intention of making a bold statement. And while BMW is no stranger to producing potent performance cars, the i8 is its first attempt at a hi-tech plug-in hybrid sports machine.

Not content with a token approach to producing an eco-friendly car, the firm has pulled out all the stops – high power, small capacity petrol engine, advanced materials and construction methods, the potential for huge economy and emissions gains and the convenience of short recharging times.

You can't expect any car at this end of the performance spectrum to be child friendly, but the i8, with its two-plus-two seating arrangement, strikes an acceptable balance.

And with the petrol engine at the back, the boot is also modest, so no room for the golf clubs. Up front, there's sufficient oddment space for mobile phones and associated clutter.

For all the i8's green credentials, it's first and foremost a sports car. That's obvious from the low-slung driving position and the handful of electronic modes available to fine-tune the experience.

That said, the default starting mode is electric, with the i8 offering an eerily quiet way to travel around town.

Be more enthusiastic with the throttle and the petrol motor joins in automatically. Opt for Sport mode and the default configuration is the reverse, petrol power with electric assistance.

The result is a supercar-like elastic power delivery allowing you to minimise gearshifts and concentrate on spearing from one corner to the next – and spear along the i8 does.

It is rapid enough to demand full concentration and sufficiently composed at speed to take even the worst road surfaces in its stride.

Switching between driving modes serves to fine-tune the experience, while for added excitement the engine note apes that of Porsche's 911.

It's hard to put a realistic value on a car like the i8. Yes, it does cost in basic trim, but the underpinning technology is pretty clever and it's generously equipped even by BMW's standards, although there's still ample room to personalise the cabin trim.

- All queries must be notified, preferably in writing to the accounts department of the publisher within 7 days of the invoice date.
- All digital services are maintained in partnership with the publishers' hosting service providers. Every effort is made to ensure the continuity of these services, but some occasional technical downtime beyond the publishers control may occur. In print... ...or Online

We'll give you the best of both worlds...every week, all week!

In this rapidly moving technological age people are finding new ways to advertise, especially online via the internet. But contrary to what online sites are saying and common assumptions, print advertising is not dead. There are still benefits and disadvantages to both methods and the best way to succeed is to find a vehicle that covers both bases - and that's where we come in!

The Benefits of print advertising:

1. Print adverts last longer and will be seen often.
2. They will be seen by a large number of people and have the ability to hit a specific audience.
3. There is a more creative potential with print advertising.
4. There is a positive perception of newspaper advertising - it will encourage people to think the client is serious.

The Benefits of online advertising:

1. The advert content can be easily updated.
2. It's online 24/7, 12 months a year, all round the world.
3. A massive audience, with all ages now online.
4. Very quick response - you can be receiving candidates hours after posting your advert.

CHADLI THRILLED BY SPURS' FLYING START

By Dominique Stafford

sport.enfield@nlhnews.co.uk

NACER CHADLI believes that he put in one of his best performances in a Tottenham Hotspur shirt on Sunday as he scored twice in the 4-0 rout of Queens Park Rangers which took them to the top of the early-season Premier League table.

The Swiss international joined Spurs last summer but failed to make an impact on a consistent basis during his first season with the club.

However, new head coach Mauricio Pochettino has given Chadli the chance to impress at the start of this campaign, and he responded by netting the first and third goals in Tottenham's comprehensive win at White Hart Lane.

"It was one of my best performances," he said. "I'm very pleased with the goals but everyone did well and, of course, it's good when we create a lot of chances and it was a good spectacle for the fans.

"We started with high pressure, had a lot of the ball and created lots of chances. At half-time we had a conversation, we wanted to score more goals and we started the second half strongly as well.

"That's what everyone wants to see when they watch Tottenham. We did very well and I'm very happy to score goals.

"It's been a good start, everyone is pleased with this result and now we have a game against AEL [in the Europa League] and then Liverpool on Sunday. The players are happy and the fans were fantastic as well."

Sunday's match also featured another encouraging display from Tottenham's record-signing Erik Lamela, who is finally beginning to make an impact at the club following an injury-hit first season in English football.

Lamela signed from Roma for £30million a year ago but struggled to make any impact as he started just three times in the Premier League.

But, after enjoying an injury-free pre-season, Lamela is finally starting to make his mark – creating both goals in last Thursday's Europa League win over AEL Limassol and then providing two more assists against QPR.

"When I was injured, I was not good," he said. "I was not happy, but now I am happy to be playing football again and helping the team to win. To come on and help change that match against Limassol was great. We all went home happy.

"This season is a challenge for me, because last season did not go as I had hoped with the injuries. But these things you have to overcome and change yourself.

"You have not seen the best of me yet and you always have to improve. I don't know how far I can go, but I will try my hardest to make my team win.

"My aims for this season are to train to the maximum and continue to improve as a footballer. I am still young. I think I can improve a lot but it depends on me. This season I want to help my team and my team-mates to reach our aims."

At the double: Nacer Chadli scored twice in Spurs' victory against Queens Park Rangers

North Middlesex banish relegation threat

ANY lingering threat that North Middlesex had of being relegated from the top flight of the Middlesex County Cricket League was finally banished on Saturday as they secured a two-wicket win at basement side Brondesbury.

Simon Butler shone for the hosts after they were asked to bat first by making 87 out of their total of 232-8.

Christopher Blake (38) and Tom Shaw (36) also made useful contributions, while Joel Hughes (3-75) was the most successful bowler.

Connor Nurse (65) got North Middlesex's reply off to a good start and Tom Nicoll chipped in with 56 before the visitors were forced to overcome a late flurry of wickets as they edged to 233-8. Sam Smith (4-70) was the pick of the bowlers.

However, Hornsey's fears of the drop intensified as they slumped to a 14-run defeat at Teddington.

Ed Wharton (6-45) shone with the ball as Teddington were restricted to 153 batting first, with Ben Williams top scoring with just 28.

But, despite 58 from Basil Akram, Hornsey also found runs hard to come by and they ended up being dismissed for 139 to leave them eight points adrift of safety. Duncan Wood (6-42) did much of the damage.

Meanwhile, Highgate dropped out of the promotion places in Division Three after producing a poor batting performance as they slipped to a nine-wicket defeat at table-topping Wembley.

Ed Atkins (32) was the only man to make any impact with the bat as they were dismissed for just 87, with Tapan Patel ending with the remarkable figures of 5-5.

Moazzam Rizvi (42) and Prinary Patel (30) then added 70 for the first wicket as Wembley raced to 88-1 in reply.

Elsewhere, North London had to make do with a losing draw from their trip to South Hampstead.

Paul Brierly led the way with 67 as the visitors amassed 182-7 batting first, and Omkar Hashing took 4-71 as South Hampstead struggled to 129-8 in reply – but their faster rate of scoring enabled them to pick up the four points.

North Middlesex host Hornsey on Saturday, while Highgate visit Acton and North London entertain Kenton.

Borough enjoy a record-breaking day

WALID MATATA scored a remarkable seven goals on a record-breaking day for Haringey Borough as they secured a crushing 10-1 victory at Enfield (1893) in the Essex Senior League on Saturday.

Matata's seven goals equalled the Essex Senior League's individual scoring record for a match, while the triumph was Borough's 18th in a row in the league – setting a new league record.

The crushing victory also saw Borough reach double figures in a match for the first time since the merger of Wood Green Town and Edmonton during the 1970s as they moved to the top of the table on goal difference.

It did not take Matata long to begin to make an impact as he opened the scoring on ten minutes and then doubled Borough's advantage two minutes later.

But there was little indication that the match would eventually turn into a complete rout during much of the first half, and Marvin Samuel pulled a goal back for the hosts on 26 minutes.

Matata restored the two-goal lead by completing a first-half hat-trick on 42 minutes and he then scored his fourth shortly after the restart.

Anthony McDonald got in the act by scoring on 51 minutes as the floodgates began to open, and Matata then scored three more times before being substituted in the 70th minute.

Borough did not ease off the pressure in the closing stages and Dean Fenton netted twice in the final 15 minutes to complete the rout.

Meanwhile, last Tuesday saw Borough edge to a 2-1 victory at home to Ilford in the Gordon Brasted Memorial Trophy.

Christopher Morgan gave the hosts the lead on ten minutes and Fenton doubled their advantage on the hour before Martin Begg set up a tense finish by pulling a goal back for Ilford with eight minutes remaining.

Haringey Borough go to Waltham Forest on Saturday (3pm).
